

Bitter Comfort

Meerub Tariq

Have you ever sipped hot coffee on a late winter evening that burns your tongue and robs you of night's sleep?

Only for when it passes your throat somewhere near the heart, you swell with that warmth, that no one else can give.